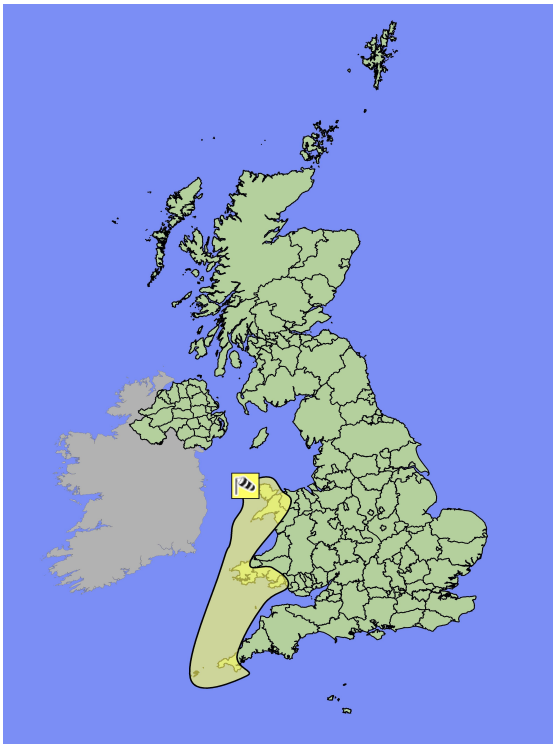
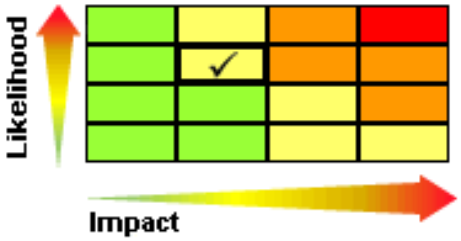
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Winds will strengthen during Tuesday morning, with gusts of 60 mph expected to affect many western parts of the UK. However, the strongest winds with gusts around 70 mph are likely close to coasts and over higher ground, notably northwest and southwest Wales and to a lesser extent western Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Wind

Valid from 05:00 on Tue, 29th Nov 2011 until 13:00 on Tue, 29th Nov 2011

South to southwesterly winds will increase in strength during Monday night, with severe gales developing during Tuesday morning. The public should be aware that this may cause some disruption to travel.
